Risk3sixty Honored Again with Best Places to Work by Consulting Magazine for Second Time.

Risk3sixty, an Atlanta-based cybersecurity technology and consulting firm, announced today that it has been named “Best Firms to Work For” by Consulting Magazine – for the second time. Risk3sixty was one of 31 firms recognized in the small consulting firm category. This year, more than 7,900 surveys were submitted for consideration in two size-related categories: large consulting firms and small consulting firms.

“Risk3sixty is humbled to be included on the prestigious ‘Best Firms to Work For’ list again this year,” said Christian Hyatt, CEO and Co-founder, risk3sixty.

“From day one, we set out to build a culture that recognizes the importance of work/life balance and encourages employees to constantly learn and advance their careers. To have our investments in these areas be seen by our employees as an industry-best effort is immensely gratifying.”

“For two decades, the publication has solicited anonymous employee surveys to determine the list of top-rated consulting companies. The surveys probe into five specific areas of interest, including work/life balance, client engagement, career development, leadership and culture to identify companies that have set themselves apart in their respective industries.

Employers consistently regard inclusion on the “Best Firms to Work For” as critically important to their efforts to attract and retain the top talent.
